EVIDENCE OF EXTERNAL REPUTATION

HONORS

- University Professor, Carnegie Mellon University, 2023 (highest designation a faculty member can receive at CMU)
- Honorary Doctorate in Informatics, Università della Svizzera Italiana, 2022
- AAAS Fellow, 2020 (for contributions to usable privacy and security research, policy, and education)
- ACM CHI Academy, 2017
- FORE Systems Professorship, awarded 2017
- IEEE Fellow, 2016 (for contributions to privacy engineering)
- ACM Fellow, 2014 (for contributions to usable privacy and security research and education)

AWARDS AND CITATIONS

- Distinguished Professor of Engineering Award, Carnegie Mellon University College of Engineering, 2022
- Allen Newell Award for Research Excellence, Carnegie Mellon University School of Computer Science, 2019 (for passwords research with Lujo Bauer, Nicolas Christin, Saranga Komanduri, Michelle Mazurek, William Melicher, Sean Segretti, Rich Shay, and Blase Ur)
- Alumni Achievement Award, McKelvey School of Engineering, Washington University in St. Louis, 2019
- Andrew Carnegie Fellow, 2019 (awarded by Carnegie Corporation of New York)
- ACM CHI Social Impact Award, 2018
- International Association of Privacy Professionals Leadership Award, 2018
- IEEE Cybersecurity Award for Practice, 2018 (for passwords research with Lujo Bauer, Nicolas Christin, Saranga Komanduri, Michelle Mazurek, William Melicher, Sean Segretti, Rich Shay, and Blase Ur)
- Scholarship recipient, CMU Leadership and Negotiation Academy for Women, Tepper School of Business, Carnegie Mellon University, 2017-2018
- ELATE Fellow, Executive Leadership in Academic Technology and Engineering, 2014-2015
- Montgomery Blair High School Magnet Foundation Distinguished Alumni Award, 2014
- NSF Science and Engineering Visualization Challenge Honorable Mention, 2014
- Recognized as a Privacy by Design Ambassador by the Information and Privacy Commissioner, Ontario, Canada, 2012
- Finalist, Executive Women's Forum (information security, risk management, and privacy) Women of Influence Awards, 2010
- Annual Computer Security Applications Conference 2009 Distinguished Practitioner Award
- Tor Graphical User Interface Design Competition, Phase 1 Overall Winner (2006)
- 2004 IBM Best Academic Privacy Faculty Award
- Technology Review Top 100 Innovator 35 or Younger (2003)
- 2002 AT&T Standards Recognition Award
- Index on Censorship Freedom of Expression Award for Best Circumvention of Censorship (for Publius project), 2001
- Washington University Omicron Delta Kappa Campus Government Honors Medal, 1995
- Washington University Engineering & Policy Departmental Fellowship, 1992-96
- Senior Award for Service to the Engineering & Policy Department and Professional Excellence, 1992
- Washington University Woodward Engineering Fellowship, 1989-92
- National Merit Scholarship Finalist, 1989

INVITED TALKS

- Privacy Engineering Practice and Respect, UsersFirst: A User-Centric Threat Modeling Framework for Privacy Notice and Choice, Santa Clara, CA, June 9, 2025.
- IAPP Global Privacy Summit, UsersFirst: An Interactive Session on User-centric Privacy Threat Modeling, Washington, DC, April 24, 2025.
- Keynote: Towards user-centered safety labels for GenAI applications, Carnegie Bosch Institute Symposium on Responsible & Sustainable AI, Pittsburgh, PA, March 12, 2025.
- Keynote: Security and Privacy for Humans, 2024 NSF Cybersecurity Summit, Pittsburgh, PA, October 8, 2024.
- Keynote: Mobile App Privacy Nutrition Labels Missing Key Ingredients for Success, IEEE Digital Privacy Workshop, Pittsburgh, PA, October 7, 2024.
- Keynote: From Password Requirements to IoT Cybersecurity Labels: Informing Public Policy With Research, ACM CCS, Copenhagen, Denmark, November 28, 2023.
- Keynote: Do We Actually Have a Choice? Why Navigating Privacy Choices is Difficult and How We Can Make it Better, Wesleyan University Shasha Seminar for Human Concerns, Middletown, Connecticut, March 31, 2023.
- Keynote: Making Privacy Labels Useful, Bosch Privacy Summit, September 22, 2022.
- Informing the Design of Cookie Consent Interfaces with Research, Privacy Engineering Practice and Respect, June 23, 2022.
- Keynote: Designing Useful and Usable Privacy Interfaces, Bosch conference on Software and Systems Engineering, February 2, 2022.
- Keynote: Keeping it real and accounting for risk: usable privacy and security study challenges, GameSec 2021, October 21, 2021.
- Keynote: Designing Useful and Usable Privacy Interfaces, The 19th ACM International Conference on Mobile Systems, Applications and Services (ACM MobiSys 2021), July 1, 2021.
- Keynote: Toggles, Dollar Signs, and Triangles: How to (In)Effectively Convey Privacy Choices with Icons and Link Texts, Dublin Privacy Symposium, June 23, 2021.
- Illustrating Privacy Engineering Concepts with Potty Talk, Privacy Engineering Practice and Respect, June 10, 2021.
- Keynote: Security and Privacy for Humans, Cyber Security Summit 2020, October 27, 2020.
- Keynote: Keeping it real and accounting for risk: usable privacy and security study challenges, Human Factors and Ergonomics Society 64th International Annual Meeting (HFES2020), October 5, 2020.
- Keynote: Useful and Usable Privacy Interfaces, Workshop on AI for Privacy (AI4P), 2rth European Conference on Artificial Intelligence, September 4, 2020.
- Keynote: The Hugh Thompson Show, featuring Penn & Teller and Dr. Lorrie Cranor, RSA Conference, San Francisco, February 28, 2020.
- Keynote: Security and Privacy for Humans, CyberCorps Scholarship for Service (SFS) 2020 Annual Job Fair and Symposium, January 14, 2020.
- Keynote: Tales of an Accidental Computer Science Professor. Women in Cybersecurity 2019 (WiCys), Pittsburgh, PA, March 29, 2019.
- Keynote: Security and Privacy for Humans. Expeditions in Computing: 10 years transforming science and society, Washington, DC, December 6, 2018.
- SIGCHI Social Impact Award Talk: Making Privacy and Security More Usable. CHI 2018, Montreal QC, Canada, April 23, 2018.
- Keynote: Web privacy and security: The user experience. The Web Conference 2018, Lyon, France, April 23-27, 2018.
- Keynote: What's wrong with your pa$$w0rd, FedEx Security Awareness Event, Memphis, TN, October 4, 2017.
- Real Humans, Simulated Attacks: Usability Testing with Attack Scenarios, Black Hat USA, Las Vegas, NV, July 26, 2017.
- Keynote: The Art of Privacy, 11th International Conference on Web and Social Media (ICWSM-17), Montreal, Quebec, CA, May 17, 2017.

- Invited talk: Effectiveness of Notices and Disclosures, National Association of Attorneys General Consumer Protection Conference, Washington, DC, May 15, 2017.
- Keynote: Putting Privacy Notices to the Test, American Bar Association Consumer Protection Conference, Atlanta, GA, February 2, 2017.
- Putting Privacy Notices to the Test, Enigma, Oakland, CA, February 1, 2017.
- Keynote: How online tracking works. Silicon Flatirons Conference on the Future of Advertising and Privacy, University of Colorado Law School, Boulder, CO, December 2, 2016.
- Keynote: Adventures in Usable Privacy and Security: From Empirical Studies to Public Policy. IEEE Cybersecurity Development Conference, Boston, MA, November 3, 2016.
- Keynote: Usable Security and Public Policy. 3rd Annual Senior Executive Cyber Security Conference, Baltimore, MD, September 21, 2016.
- Keynote: Time to rethink mandatory password changes. BSides Las Vegas, August 2, 2016.
- Keynote: Informing (public) policy. Symposium On Usable Privacy and Security, Denver, CO, June 23, 2016.
- Keynote: Putting transparency to the test. Clean Ads I/O. New York, NY, May 24, 2016.
- Keynote: Adventures in usable privacy and security: from empirical studies to public policy. HotSoS, Pittsburgh, PA, April 20, 2016.
- Personal Privacy Assistants in the Age of the Internet of Things. World Economics Forum, Davos, Switzerland, January 21, 2016.
- Keynote: The continuing quest for secure and usable passwords. ArchC0n 2015, St. Louis, MO, September 11, 2015.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO EDUCATION

ENGINEERING & PUBLIC POLICY PHD PROGRAM

I served as director of the PhD program in Engineering & Public Policy from 2017 through 2019. This is a well-established program, which had about 80-90 students enrolled. In my first year as director I worked with the faculty to propose and implement changes in a number of areas, updating policies and streamlining processes. I worked with the department's qualifying exam and curriculum committees to review their respective policies, obtained input from other faculty and students, helped build consensus within the committees, and proposed changes to the full faculty. I then worked with the committees to revise proposals based on concerns raised at faculty meetings, leading to adoption of our revised proposals. As a result, we made changes to the qualifier exam process that reduced faculty workload and student stress while increasing the consistency of grading. We have made changes to the PhD curriculum that increase flexibility in ways students can meet course requirements so as to better match the curriculum to the needs of each student, reduce administrative load of granting exceptions to curriculum requirements, and increase our ability to apply the policy consistently. I also worked with department staff to revise and streamline our PhD admissions processes, while emphasizing student diversity and making sure admitted students will have suitable advising and funding. Finally, I started and chaired a new committee in EPP on Climate and Wellbeing in which graduate students, faculty, and staff come together to discuss concerns related to climate and wellbeing in the department and work towards addressing these issues. For example, I led an effort to propose and adopt a departmental policy on time off for PhD students.

PRIVACY ENGINEERING MASTERS PROGRAM AND CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

The Privacy Engineering degree is a 12-month or 16-month program designed for computer scientists and engineers who wish to pursue careers as privacy engineers or technical privacy managers, playing a critical role in building privacy into future products, services, and processes. This first-of-its kind program admitted its first class in Fall 2013. The 12-month program includes two semesters of courses and concludes with a summer-long learning-by-doing, capstone project, where students are brought in as privacy consultants to work on client projects. In the 16-month program students complete summer internships before returning to CMU for their capstone projects. I worked with a colleague, Norman Sadeh, to develop the curriculum for this program and propose the program for college and university approval in 2012. Since the launch of the program in Fall 2013, I have served as co-director of the program with Norman Sadeh. I have been involved in curriculum design, student recruiting, admissions, fundraising, budgeting, faculty recruiting, course scheduling, teaching assignments, student advising, industry outreach, and program operations. I have also supervised a capstone project team almost every year. The program has enrolled between 2 and 20 students each year. In 2021 we launched a remote, part-time version of the program as well as a certificate program for working professionals that includes a total of 24 hours of remote instruction.

CARNEGIE MELLON USABLE PRIVACY & SECURITY DOCTORAL TRAINING PROGRAM

The Carnegie Mellon Usable Privacy and Security (CUPS) Doctoral Training program offered PhD students at CMU a cross-disciplinary training experience that prepared them to produce the key research advances necessary to reconcile ostensible tensions between security, privacy and usability, moving away from an "either-or" view of these goals to a deeper understanding of underlying tradeoffs and eventually towards solutions where security, privacy and usability are configured to reinforce each other. The goal of this program was to serve as a catalyst to shape the field of usable privacy and security by developing and training a new generation of researchers in methodologies, principles, and approaches that can be applied across systems and applications, in contrast to one-off solutions. This program was supported by an NSF IGERT grant from 2009 to 2014. I was PI on the NSF IGERT grant that funded this program and served as director of this program. I proposed the curriculum for the program and was responsible for admissions, outreach, and program operations. I started a weekly CUPS seminar series, which has now merged with the Current Topics in Privacy seminar series and continues to be attended by a large number of faculty and students from throughout the university and nearby institutions.

PRIVACY MODULE FOR MSIT-EBUSINESS TECHNOLOGY MASTERS PROGRAM

I developed a two-week privacy course module for CMU's MSIT-eBusiness Technology masters program. The module featured a team project that simulates the experience of privacy consultants brought in to work with a large company. I developed the privacy module in 2006 and updated it and taught it every year from 2006 to 2015.

SECURITY AND PRIVACY PROGRAMS FOR UNDERGRADUATES

I helped develop an undergraduate concentration in security and privacy for computer science and ECE students (launched in 2019) as well as an undergraduate minor in security, privacy, and policy that is open to students across the university (launched in 2020). I was a member of the small committee that developed the concentration, starting with identifying learning objectives and then determining how those could be satisfied through a combination of existing courses (as-is or with small changes) or new courses. I also led the effort to develop and seek approval for the undergraduate minor for students interested in studying security and privacy from a policy-oriented perspective.

USABLE PRIVACY AND SECURITY COURSE

This course is designed to introduce students to a variety of usability and user interface problems related to privacy and security and to give them experience in designing studies aimed at helping to evaluate usability issues in security and privacy systems. The course is suitable both for students interested in privacy and security who would like to learn more about usability, as well as for students interested in usability who would like to learn more about security and privacy. Initially, much of the course was taught in a graduate seminar style in which all students were expected to do a weekly reading assignment and each week different students prepared a presentation for the class. Students also worked on a group project throughout the semester. Over the years I have revised the curriculum. Beginning with the Spring 2018 offering of this course, I used most of the first half of the semester to teach human-computer interaction research methods through class lectures and hands on exercises, framed in the context of privacy and security. In the second half of the semester I focused each lecture on a different security or privacy topic. Group projects involving IRB-approved usable privacy and security studies continue to provide students with experience applying what they have learned. Some students continue working on their group projects after the semester is over and have successfully published them at peer-reviewed conferences. I developed this course with two colleagues, Michael Reiter and Jason Hong, in 2006 and have taught it 13 times between 2006 and 2022. This is one of the first usable privacy and security courses to be offered anywhere. The syllabus and curriculum materials are available online to be used as a model for other courses. This a required course in the Privacy Engineering masters program and also fulfills requirements in other programs including the undergraduate security and privacy concentrations and minor.

PRIVACY POLICY, LAW, AND TECHNOLOGY COURSE

This course focuses on policy issues related to privacy from the perspectives of governments, organizations, and individuals. We begin with a historical and philosophical study of privacy and then explore recent public policy issues. We examine the privacy protections provided by laws and regulations, as well as the way technology can be used to protect privacy. We emphasize technology-related privacy concerns and mitigation, for example: social networks, smartphones, behavioral advertising (and tools to prevent targeted advertising and tracking), anonymous communication systems, big data, and drones. The course is open to all graduate students and advanced undergraduate students who have technical backgrounds. I developed this course in 2004 and have taught it nine times between 2004 and 2015. This was one of the first privacy courses to be offered to computer science or engineering students at any university. It continues to be offered annually by other faculty and is a required course in the Privacy Engineering masters program and also fulfills requirements in other programs including the undergraduate security and privacy concentrations and minor.

COMPUTERS AND SOCIETY COURSE

In this course students discuss the social impacts of computing technology. The course provides a brief introduction to ethics and to the history of computing and the Internet. It focuses on a number of areas in which computers and information technology are having an impact on society including privacy, freedom of speech, intellectual property, work, distribution of wealth, and the environment. Issues that are discussed include electronic voting, spyware, spam, and intellectual property issues associated with digital content distribution. This course is intended for freshmen and sophomore students from across the university. The course has been renamed Ethics and Policy Issues in Computing and is now taught every semester. I developed this course in 2005 and taught in three times between 2005 and 2007. It is now taught by other faculty.

COMPLETED PHD STUDENTS

Rebecca Balebako, December 2014, PhD in Engineering & Public Policy

- Thesis title: Identifying and Communicating the Risks of Smartphone Data Sharing
- Employer: Balebako Privacy Engineer

Cristian Bravo-Lillo, May 2014, PhD in Engineering & Public Policy

- Thesis title: Improving Computer Security Dialogs: An Exploration of Attention and Habituation
- Employer: RSEduca

Jessica Colnago, December 2021, PhD in Societal Computing (co-advised with A. Acquisti)

- Thesis title: Exploring the Adoption of Privacy-Protective Behaviors
- Employer: US Federal Trade Commission

Kyle Crichton, December 2023, PhD in Engineering & Public Policy

- Thesis title: Tracking User Web Browsing Behavior: Privacy Harms and Security Benefits
- Employer: Center for Security and Emerging Technology

Serge Egelman, May 2009, PhD in Computation, Organizations, and Society

- Thesis title: Trust Me: Design Patterns for Constructing Trustworthy Trust Indicators
- Employer: University of California, Berkeley

Pardis Emami-Naeini, May 2020, PhD in Societal Computing (co-advised with Y. Agarwal)

- Thesis title: Informing Privacy and Security Decision Making in an IoT World
- Employer: Duke University

Hana Habib, September 2021, PhD in Societal Computing

- Thesis title: Evaluating the Usability of Privacy Choice Mechanisms
- Employer: Carnegie Mellon University

Patrick Kelley, May 2013, PhD in Computation, Organizations, and Society (co-advised with N. Sadeh)

- Thesis title: Designing Privacy Notices: Supporting User Understanding and Control
- Employer: Google

Saranga Komanduri, May 2016, PhD in Societal Computing

- Thesis title: Modeling the adversary to evaluate password strength with limited samples
- Employer: Civis Analytics

Ponnurangam Kumaraguru, May 2009, PhD in Computation, Organizations, and Society

- Thesis title: PhishGuru: A System for Educating Users about Semantic Attacks
- Employer: International Institute of Information Technology (IIIT), Hyderabad

Pedro Giovanni Leon, December 2014, PhD in Engineering & Public Policy

- Thesis title: Privacy Notice and Choice in Practice
- Employer: Central Bank of Mexico

Abigail Marsh, August 2018, PhD in Societal Computing

- Thesis title: An Examination of Parenting Strategies for Children's Online Safety
- Employer: Macalester College

Aleecia McDonald, September 2010, PhD in Engineering & Public Policy

- Thesis title: Footprints Near the Surf: Individual Privacy Decisions in Online Contexts
- Employer: self-employed

Rob Reeder, July 2008, PhD in Computer Science

- Thesis title: Expandable Grids: A user interface visualization technique and a policy semantics to support fast, accurate security and privacy policy authoring
- Employer: Google

Richard Shay, May 2015, PhD in Computation, Organizations, and Society

- Thesis title: Creating Usable Policies for Stronger Passwords with MTurk
- Employer: MathWorks

Steve Sheng, September 2009, PhD in Engineering & Public Policy

- Thesis title: Phishing Countermeasures: A Policy Analysis
- Employer: ICANN

Manya Sleeper, August 2016, PhD in Societal Computing

- Thesis title: Everyday Online Sharing
- Employer: Google

Josh Tan, September 2020, PhD in Societal Computing (co-advised with L. Bauer)

- Thesis title: Practical Security Guidance for Authentication-System Designers
- Employer: Amazon

Janice Tsai, August 2009, PhD in Engineering & Public Policy

- Thesis title: The Impact of Salient Privacy Information on Decision-Making
- Employer: Google

Blase Ur, September 2016, PhD in Societal Computing

- Thesis title: Supporting Password-Security Decisions with Data
- Employer: University of Chicago

Kami Vaniea, September 2012, PhD in Computer Science (co-advised with L. Bauer)

- Thesis title: Proximity Information Displays for Access Control
- Employer: University of Waterloo
